Army's leader scores 300 on P.T. test

Army Secretary John O. Marsh Jr., who chairs the Army's Physical Fitness Committee, practiced what he preaches by achieving a perfect score of 300 points on the Army Physical Readiness Test during a recent visit to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Marsh, 55, made his perfect score on the test for the 36-39 age group, performing 62 push-ups, 69 sit-ups and running two miles in 14 minutes, 35 seconds on a rain-soaked course.

We goofed!

In the June issue of FIVE by FIVE it was reported that the 17th Signal won the Mixed Volleyball Championship at the Sports Fest in Darmstadt.

We should have said the 32nd Signal won the championship. We goofed!
